

The Department of Psychiatry and Human Behavior of the University of Mississippi Medical Center (UMMC) invites applications for a tenure-track faculty psychology positions to work as part of the APA-approved UMMC Psychology Residency (internship) Training Program. The training program has a long and prestigious history of training productive clinical researchers. Jackson, Mississippi's demographics and location make UMMC an ideal site to conduct research on health disparities, minority mental health, and rural mental health, in addition to research typically conducted in urban settings.

We are recruiting at either the assistant or associate professor rank. We are seeking a psychologist on the clinician/educator track. The successful candidate will either expand on existing clinical services at the medical center (e.g., LGBT, addictions, mood and anxiety disorders) or establish new psychology services (e.g., DBT). Opportunities for leadership in psychotherapy training are available. Protected research time is available for candidates with strong research backgrounds.

Candidates will be expected to provide clinical supervision to psychology interns and must be license-eligible in Mississippi. Applicants should have a doctoral degree in clinical psychology from an APA-accredited program and have completed an APA-approved internship. Salary is based on experience and is competitive. Review of applicants will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Jackson is the capital city of Mississippi, a state with a rich cultural history that has greatly influenced the music, literature, and art of the rest of the country. It lies at a midpoint between Memphis and New Orleans, each of which is an easy three-hour drive, and Atlanta and Dallas, each about six hours away. Barnett Reservoir provides ample local recreation opportunities and the Gulf of Mexico is less than three hours to the south. Ethnic, music, and culinary festivals abound during pleasant spring and fall weather.

The University of Mississippi Medical Center adheres to the principle of equal educational and employment opportunity without regard to race, creed, sex, color, religion, marital status, sexual orientation, age, national origin, disability or veteran status. This policy extends to all programs and activities supported by the Medical Center. Under the provisions of Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972, the University of Mississippi at the Medical Center does not discriminate on the basis of sex in its educational programs or activities with respect to admissions or employment.

Please apply by sending a cover letter, CV, and 3 letters of reference to Daniel Williams, PhD (dwilliams10@umc.edu), Psychology Division Director of the Department of Psychiatry and Human Behavior, University of Mississippi Medical Center.